A little-known and long forgotten Persian dynastic history from the middle of the sixteenth century, authored by a court scribe close to Shah Ṭahmāsp (r. 1524–1576) and his oldest sister, princess Mihīn Begum (d. 1562), is now edited and introduced for the first time. The chronicle is devoted to the history of the Ṣafaviyya Sufi order from its formative years under Shaykh Ṣafī al-Dīn Ishāq Ardabīlī (d. 1334) and his immediate successors until the early years of the reign of Shah Ismā‘īl (1501–1524), the founder of the Safavid dynasty.

“I wholeheartedly recommend this volume. The quality of editing is superb and the author adds new data and insights as well as raises interesting questions about the early Safavids. Ghereghlou is to be congratulated to have taken it upon himself to edit this text.”
